DARJEELING, JULY 1904.

MONITI MELIORA SEQUAMUR.

The methods of a public-school education are two-fold, its object single. It aims at the inculcation of a public spirit by means of work and play. The process takes place without the knowledge of the individual, but with his conscious or unconscious co-operation; he becomes, or the object of the system is to make him become, a good member of the school, his first community, from this a good individual, for education means development, and finally a good member of the great communities, the world and the state, that is to say, a good citizen and a good man. For him to fill each of these parts worthily, we notice that what we have called 'goodness' is an essential qualification. But goodness is a vague term, and indeed often suggests qualities the reverse of those we are seeking.

What then is goodness really? If words mean anything, the good man is he who thinks sincerely, who feels charitably, who acts enthusiastically. In place of the vague goodness, we have now three definite qualities, charity, enthusiasm, sincerity. Charity we take to mean the spirit of friendliness, that spirit which always endeavours to impute a good motive, that spirit which always looks at the brightest side, that spirit which is alien to grumbling, the spirit of optimism, the spirit of content, the spirit of good feeling. Enthusiasm is that divine exaltation above self, of which Plato tells: the doing whatever one has to do, be it action or be it contemplation, with all one's soul and with all one's will. Sincerity, it may be, atones for more sins than even charity; sincerity is the spondaiotes of Aristotle, that high seriousness, which links, or should link, poet and philosopher, monitor and fag, with a common bond, the eagerness to accomplish, the determination to accomplish well, the lack of self-interest in accomplishment. Sincerity, enthusiasm, charity: these are the three qualities that have informed the makers of history, poets, legislators, generals, philosophers, nay, more than makers of history, makers of Man. These are the three qualities that alone can make the individual worthy of his country, worthy of his Creator, worthy of himself.

To descend to the particular, can we say that these are the qualities pre-eminent among the members of this school, that prides itself on being the first public school in India, the first in every sense? Can we say so truthfully? Truthfully, of many boys in the school, of perhaps the majority of boys in the school, we believe that we can. But there are many left, and among them no small number of boys not inconspicuous in the school's life. There is a spirit prevalent that is the antithesis of these qualities; and, as is the case with all weeds, it is spreading rapidly. After the seventh of June, it seemed for a moment to have decayed, to be dead; but more recently it has burst forth anew with redoubled vigour. Fresh patches of it have been discovered, where they were least expected. It taints and infects the air that the more high-minded breathe. Let us not be misunderstood: it is the spirit of the white-livered, the spirit of "don't care," the spirit of discontent: the spirit that will wreck a man, that will ruin a school, that will make a nation utterly forgotten. It is to you, the ring-leaders of this movement, that we speak. You and all you present boys of this school, are the founders of its tradition: you should be the consolidators of the Empire. There are those among you, some in authority, many still near the beginnings of their boyhood, who show by daily example the spirit that should be yours. Be not ashamed: take guidance from them. But it is free to you to choose! You can, if you will, become loafers, Stalkies, bar-loungers, wastrels, malcontents, unworthy of your school, unworthy of your Creator, unworthy of your country, unworthy of yourselves. Only remember the motto of your school: Moniti Meliora Sequamur.

A PAULINE EPISTLE.

MY DEAR MR. EDITOR,

Can it be true,
What I hear in the Common Room 'gup' ?
That you want me to write you a column or two,
To help fill the "Chronicle" up ?

You must surely forget that I've only just come
To the East; still I'll do you my best :
What strikes me at first is — a schoolboy from home
Might well think himself still in the West.

I must tell you I never expected to find,
Perched up on the Roof of Bengal,
Such a regular school of the Old English kind,
As this one named after St. Paul.

The "Preps" "Extra Drills" and "Detention" and "lines,"
The pillow fight's dangerous joy :—
The 'Caesar' and 'Xenophon', cosines and sines :
'Twas just so where I was a boy.

Your system of monitors, Rifle Corps, Gym :
Your Cricket and Tuckshop and Fives,
Your "Etons" in Chapel on Sundays so trim :
Dear me ! How a custom survives !

One boy does his best all his duties to shirk,
And thinks every lesson a bore :
Another takes pleasure and pains in his work :
I've met all these youngsters before.

The Esprit de Corps that prevails in the School,
And the eager response to its calls,
Though sometimes an exception, is mostly the Rule :
May it long be the pride of St. Paul's !

You asked me to write, and I've written; it's nice
So much in your favour to say :
But I must give you just a short piece of advice,
Before putting my 'stylo' away.

At times all your keenness and fire seems to hang;
There's a want of alertness about;
An absence of "grit" to descend into slang)
And of back bone, both in school and out.

If the cricket is not going just as you will
You soon get as limp as a rag;
And for want of a little exertion at drill,
Your smartness at once seems to flag.

Be serious both in your work and your play;
 Don't give in at the first little scar;
 Fight out to the end, and let each of you say :—
 " Monitus meliora sequar."

NOTES.

His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, attended by the Hon. Mr. A. Earle and Capt. Rennie, A. D. C., paid an informal visit to the school on Friday, April 22nd. As His Honour had expressed a wish to see the school at work, no formal reception was held. The Lieutenant-Governor was conducted over the buildings and through the class rooms by the Rector, and on his departure kindly requested that a half holiday might be granted to mark the occasion of his visit.

The Committee of Directors of Public Instruction, engaged in investigating the condition of European Hill Schools, held meetings at the Rectory on March 29th and April 1st. On the latter occasion, the Directors of the Punjab, United Provinces, and Burma, inspected the school as well.

Mr. Stapleton, officiating Inspector of European Schools, visited the school on June 1st.

A great change has been made this term by the substitution of punishment drill for written impositions. There can be little doubt that half-an-hour's physical exercise in the open air is much more healthy than stooping over a desk and ruining one's hand-writing, while the former penalty is thoroughly effective in the case of the lazy and the idle, its most frequent victims.

We have already extended a hearty welcome to the two new masters, Mr. F. M. Browne, B. A., of Peterhouse College, and Mr. A. F. Consins B. A., of Jesus College, Cambridge, who joined us at the beginning of the term. The former has coached, with very satisfactory results, the Senior Game in cricket, while the latter has devoted his time and attention to the Juniors.

Our thanks are due to J. A. De Grey Downing, Esq. for his interesting and sympathetic account of the school which appeared in the April number of the Captain. Mr. Downing has been a constant visitor to the school during the last two years and has had many opportunities of seeing us both at work and play. Mr. Paar's photograph of the main school buildings was reproduced with great effect.

L. P. Hutchison sat for the Entrance examination to the Opium Department at Calcutta in February and passed first in the list of some ten or twelve candidates. 'Tim' had been in the school for over thirteen years and was by far our oldest resident. He was a useful member of both the Cricket and Hockey Elevens, the former has already begun to realise his loss. He was posted to Gaya and left us at the end of March. Our faith in the hard work done by government officials was somewhat shaken by his reappearance in Darjiling on ten days' leave (surely it was casual leave) after two months' work. However we were all very glad to see him and wish him all success in his future career.

The results of the Cambridge Local Examinations held last December were eminently satisfactory in the case of the Senior and Preliminary candidates, but somewhat disappointing in that of the Juniors. The full results of the Examinations will be found in another column, but we may remark here that the Preliminary did exceptionally well and a half holiday was given for their various successes. This year we are not entering any candidates for the Local Examinations and half holidays have been more numerous, and there is some talk of putting a play on the stage later on in the term.

Photography is more popular in the school than it has ever been before, and there is a decided increase in the number of cameras. Mr. Shawcross has kindly given the boys the use of his excellent dark-room and if a Photographic competition does come off some of the pictures sent in should be really good.

Situated as we are, so close to the borderland of Tibet, we follow the movements of the Mission with great interest. Mr. Candler, the "Daily Mail" correspondent, who suffered so severely in the first action, was for many years a master in the School. He had to leave the Mission for awhile and retire to Darjiling. He was a guest in the Common Room a little while ago and has now returned to his work.

We miss the sporting officers of the Royal Fusiliers who have given us so much good cricket this season. Captains Legge and Fisher and Lieutenants Hogg and Hewitt have become famous in Darjiling cricket, but we believe that notwithstanding their absence the station hope to bring a strong team against the combined schools. This match is very popular and next to the inter-school match the most important match of the year.

Mrs. Earle, who has recently returned from England, has renewed her kind interest in the School. On Monday, the 30th April, the Staff, the Cadet Company and the rest of the School were invited to lunch at Senchal. The Company marched from Jalapahar to Ghoom through a terrific hailstorm, but it ceased soon after and when Senchal was reached it was quite bright. During lunch, copies of a mysterious document, describing the position of a treasure hidden in the neighbourhood of the deserted chimney's, were handed round. Immediately after, the eager treasure seekers started out, but it was not till the document had been well studied that the treasure was found. Next a gymkhana was held which proved most successful. We must thank Mrs. Earle for her kind generosity which was heartily appreciated by all.

We hear from Coopers Hill that S. G. Stubbs is playing in the First XI and that W. Burn is stroke of the second boat.

The Rev. A. C. Kestin preached in the School Chapel at evening Service on Sunday.

As usual there were a number of new boys this term; chiefly for the Preparatory School, but not entirely, for two new boys have already received their second XI colours and are in a fair way to get into the First XI, while in Hockey we hope to have a good many more recruits, as there are still eight places to be filled.

Beale, Shaw ma and Badham mi received their second XI colours on May the 21st.

Siddle received his second XI colours on June the 2nd. Allison ma, Corbett and McIntosh received their second XI colours on June the 7th.

The Whitsuntide holidays were as usual devoted to cricket, but it was a distinct feature that the last two days were occupied by our club and ground match against St. Joseph's and not by an ordinary match. This rule we understand will always be adhered to, and surely if we beat St. Joseph's a fourth holiday will not be amiss.

The school officers for this term are as follows :—

THE ST. JOSEPH'S MATCH.

The match of the year took place on the St. Paul's ground on Tuesday, June 7th. The weather was propitious, and there was a fair attendance of Darjeeling residents to witness the game, in addition to a large number of St. Joseph's boys.

The St. Joseph's Captain, winning the toss, sent the home team in. St. Paul's made a disastrous start, losing their first wicket for 7, and their second and third with the score unchanged. Sharling and August, followed by J. R. Badham, added a few, but, with the score at 7 for 53, things looked very bad for the batting side. McIntosh and Corbett, however, for the 8th wicket, put a new aspect on affairs, the former playing free cricket for his most useful innings of 22. When Allison joined Corbett, runs came apace, the new batsman opening his shoulders after the first few overs, and, on one occasion, scoring 10 in three consecutive hits. The partnership was dissolved by a good ball from Owens, which beat Corbett. He had been at the wicket for three-quarters of an hour, and had undoubtedly saved the match by his steady play. He had also added largely to the score, by his cleverness in stealing runs between the wickets. Campbell did not get a ball, Allison being held on the boundary by Bryan, a well-timed catch. His innings of 26 had lasted 11 minutes, an extraordinary rate of scoring, when one remembers the difficulty of getting runs on the St. Paul's ground.

The St. Joseph's fielding was throughout good, and the bowling honours very evenly divided, Ryan, Owens and Ford all bowling extremely well.

About an hour being left for play before lunch, Doran and Ford opened the visitors' innings, but the latter, with the score at 6, succumbed to a leg-break from Sharling. Bryan, who followed, almost immediately gave a chance in the slips, which was not accepted, a mistake that might well have lost the match for St. Paul's. A few minutes later, however, he was clean bowled by a magnificent ball from August. At 20 E. Badham relieved Sharling, and sensational cricket ensued, the new bowler taking 3 wickets for 4 runs, including Rayneau, who fell to a splendid running catch by Shaw in the deep. August followed Badham's example, beating both E. and J. Doran with the same ball that had taken Bryan's wicket. The former had played a very fine innings, being the only batsman who had offered any resistance to the bowling, thus saving his side from utter collapse. With him gone, the result seemed a foregone conclusion for St. Paul's. An adjournment was now made for lunch, the score standing at 43 for 7.

After the interval Ready and Owens faced the bowling, and both batsmen played excellent cricket, the latter rarely letting a loose ball pass him. Runs came slowly but steadily, and at 67 Sharling, who managed the bowling throughout the innings with judgment, replaced August by Siddle. The change immediately proved successful, as the left-hander off his third ball caught Ready, with his right hand, from a terrific low drive, a piece of fielding that shared with Shaw's catch the honours of the day. The outgoing batsman had played an invaluable innings, having partnered Owens for nearly an hour. Corkrey started scoring freely, and August took the ball from Siddle. Off the last ball of his first over Owens was held at point. His 22 had been contributed at a most critical period of the game, and had undoubtedly saved St. Joseph's from a severe defeat. He had only given one chance. The last wicket gave little trouble,—though, with the scores so close, every run was productive of tremendous excitement, and the St. Joseph's innings closed for 87, leaving St. Paul's victors by the narrow margin of 18 runs. The fielding of the latter had been, with the exception of the two catches dropped, brilliant, and the bowling was quite first-class, at times indeed appearing almost unplayable.

St. Paul's, going again to the wickets, lost 2 for 40, Siddle being not out 13. Neither the bowling nor the fielding of the visitors were as good as in the first innings.

The result was the more unexpected, as in two previous matches, St. Paul's Club and Ground against St. Joseph's College, and St. Paul's School against St. Joseph's University Department, St. Paul's had been defeated on each occasion, on the former severely, on the latter after a very close game.

The following is the full score.

FACIT INDIGNATIO VERSUM.

MR. EDITOR,

Somehow a rumour's about
That we're lacking in keenness and zest;
That we're too "kuch parwanai" both in school and out -
Now against this I wish to protest.

We may sometimes be sleepy and slack; that I know;
But we've famous examples to follow;
Old Homer's not always awake; and the bow
Was not always tight drawn of Apollo.

When put to the test we can muster some 'go';
And at cricket sometimes save a beating;
And, though sleepy, get Opium firsts; as you know:
The proof of the pie's in the eating.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Entertainments have not been very numerous this year, but it will be a hard task for any amateurs who hope to rival the excellent play we had the pleasure of witnessing on the night of June the 4th. The Cotton Hall Amateur Dramatic Society put the Merchant of Venice on the stage and for sheer comedy their representation would be hard to beat. The stage arrangements were truly Shakesperean and might have been taken from the following account by an authority on the subject. "The nobles and ladies sat in boxes on the stage; the people stood in the pit or yard. The stage itself was a naked room, with a blanket for a curtain. Boys acted the female parts."

Heroic efforts were made to change the scene from a street in Venice to Portia's house in Belmont, while three violins and a cornet discoursed sweet music during the intervals. Shylock (Blaquiere ma) certainly brought down the house and his share in the trial scene was magnificent particularly at that supreme moment when he produced the balances. Antonio (Pettermi) showed a great appreciation of his part and when Shakesperean words failed him supplied his own. But it was Gratiano (Wood) who had the best idea of acting, and his speech, "Why should a man whose blood, etc." was quite good. Portia's sharp incisive sentences were heartily applauded but modesty overcame her and in all scenes except the trial she stowed herself away in a corner. While Nerissa (August mi) proved a most able assistant to her mistress. Lee ma was a most stately Duke and though he paused for some time when Shylock was awaiting his decision, we have come to the conclusion that he must have been making up his mind.

The play was entirely managed by the actors except in the matter of the costumes which were tastefully made up by Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Corbett. A few visitors were present, including Mrs. Earle, Miss Woods, Major Somerville and Mr. Shaw. The complete cast is appended.

THE LIBRARY.

The profits of that very popular institution, the 'Tuck-shop,' were this year devoted to the library, and it has consequently been possible not only to have rebound some 50 or 60 old books, but also to purchase a large number of new ones. The librarians are much indebted to Mr. Shawcross, who kindly undertook to buy the books during the holidays, for the time and trouble taken in getting together such an excellent selection. Thanks are also due to Mrs. Hague to whose careful management of the 'tuck-shop' the grant is due.

The following books have also been presented by Hutchison, "The Intrusions of Peggy" (Hope), "Kim" (Kipling); by Petter ma "The Four Feathers" (Mason); by McCann "Strange Tales of Peril and Adventure. The Rev. H. O. Moore has continued to send "The Captain" and the "Navy League Journal." The April number of "The Captain" was particularly interesting as it contained an illustrated article on St. Paul's School.

An innovation has been made this year, the whole of the third form being admitted to the library. The experiment was made not without some misgivings, but the books have so far been returned in good condition, and there is every encouragement to continue it.

P— LOQUITUR.

Oh listen to the trials of VB.
Most famous of all forms you will see
Renowed for brain and muscle,
Ever ready for a tussle
From Chapel bell to "Silence" at 10. P.

We were once the tender care of F. deV.
That happy time has passed you will see.
We no longer see his frown.
They have done us very Browne.
The Form is weeping silently and free.

Another friend we lost is young R. D.
The kindest of all masters you will see.
Of relations we've no lack;
"But we want our R. D. back"
The Form is woriling round the Rectoree.

We pakaroed a very young marghi.
We nourished it with care you will see.
Of the curry that we thought
For us there will be nought.
All's eaten in that horrid Bursarie.

A former member of our familiee
Has deserted us at last you will see.
With the Beast no longer there,
Beauty gibbers in despair.
The form is smiling very pleasantlee.

THE RIFLE CORPS.

This season was started with many and important losses in all ranks especially among the non-commissioned officers, including three Sergeants, three Corporals and two Lance-Corporals. However these losses were very quickly made good and we are now in the fortunate position of possessing a more capable set of N.-C. O's than has been our lot for several years. The large influx of recruits into the ranks made our work for the first part of the season a little arduous and no doubt at times the parade ground became a trifle distasteful. There was, however, urgent necessity for us to become acquainted with the new weapon with which we had at last been armed and for which we had so long sighed in vain. Alterations for the better have been made in the helmet badges and also in the shoulder badges.

Our first public appearance was on April 8th, when we formed with "F" Coy. a guard of honour to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, being stationed at the Shruberry gates. His Honour expressed himself as being pleased with the smartness of the turn out and thanked the guard for its attendance.

Our popular Adjutant, Major Wimberley, inspected the company under the command of Lieutenant Robertson on May 16th and gave us his valuable criticism.

On May 2nd a picnic given by Mrs. Earle, so long and well known to the company, was the occasion of a route march to Senchal. The company started in good style, but just after passing the junction of the cart road and the old Calcutta road, the heaviest hail storm of the year broke over the company. In a minute everybody was drenched to the skin. The question of proceeding was now debated but on the arrival of the Captain the command to advance was greeted with cheers. After an excellent lunch, during which the clothing of the company dried quickly on the roof of the Bungalow, the afternoon was spent in an excellent Gymkhana, prizes for which were provided by Mrs. Earle. At the conclusion cheers were given for Mrs. Earle and Major Sommerville and the company under the command of Lieutenant Robertson marched homewards to be again assailed by a second storm. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather everybody enjoyed the pic-nic and the cheers at the conclusion were of the heartiest kind.

On June 3rd Major General J. S. Collins, Inspector-General of Volunteers, inspected the company. The General, with Colonel Marindin and Major Wimberley, was received on the parade ground at 3-30 with the general salute. Dispensing with any more ceremonial drill, the General carefully inspected the company putting to all searching questions regarding their weapons and the use of them.

The section commanders were then given the opportunity to display their knowledge and skill in handling their sections, rapidity of decision and quickness in carrying out commands being especially insisted on. The sections were then drilled in free gymnastics by the section commanders, the whole company being finally drilled by its Captain.

After this the company was drawn up in hollow formed and the Inspecting Officer expressing himself as very pleased with the parade gave us valuable advice for further guidance.

Promotions amongst the Non-Commissioned Officers have left us as follows. Color Sergeant Petter, Sergeants Sharling, August and Meerza, Corpls. Badham, Meerza, Egan and McIntosh, Lance. Corpls. Beale, Corbett and Badham.

The result of the Prize Firing which took place on October 31st 1903, was as follows.

MATCH I. For N.-C. Officers.—1st Lce. Corpl. Meerza, 2nd Lce. Corpl. August, 3rd Corpl. Sharling.

MATCH II. For Extra Efficient.—1st Pt. Lewis, 2nd Pt. Scott, 3rd Pt. Penn, 4th Pt. Wood.

CRICKET.

We have had a moderately successful season, having won half our matches. We were severely defeated by the Station on the Shrubbery, but on our own ground made a much better game of it. Our Club and Ground team received a severe beating at the hands of St. Joseph's, and our 1st. XI were beaten, after a close game, by their University Department, but we succeeded in winning the School match, the match of the year for both teams, after a most exciting finish.

Our batting has varied considerably, but almost every member of the team has made runs on at least one occasion; the averages, however, are very poor. Our bowling has been very uncertain, Sharling has usually bowled well, at times excellently, but none of our other bowlers have been reliable, though all have had their successes. Little more need be said of our fielding than the words of the Darjeeling Visitor on the occasion of the Club and Ground match with St. Joseph's, that "it was brilliant and at times magnificent." Through almost an entire day in the field, hardly a run was given away. It might have served as an example to any school team. The only fault that can be found with it is the occasional dropping of an easy catch.

Undoubtedly the worst failing of the team is a disposition among certain members of it to lose heart and interest in a match, when apparently being defeated. They should remember that a match is never lost, till the last ball has been bowled. Several more matches could have been won this term, had these players shown any symptoms of pluck or public spirit. In particular we remember the match with the St. Joseph's University Department, where, if we had had one half the grit of our opponents, we should have won an easy victory. However, this is a subject referred to elsewhere in our columns and we need say no more.

In the Junior Game cricket has been more enthusiastic than successful. In our two matches against St. Joseph's Juniors, as will be seen from the scores, we were badly beaten. But we can draw some consolation from the 'kiddies' matches. We did win one of these, and it should argue well for the future cricket of the school that the youngest among us have already some idea of the game.

FIVES.

School vs. Jalapahar Depot.

This match was played on Tuesday March 15th, the Depot being represented by Captain Legge and H. Uzielli, Esq., while A. F. L. Sharling and F. R. August as usual played for the School. The match ended in an easy victory for the School pair, who played a very strong game, and won right off by two games to love. The scores in each game were 15-6, 15-9.

School vs. Old Wykehamists.

Played on Friday, April 15th. The Old Wykehamists, the Rev. E. A. Newton and F. M. Browne, Esq., made a much better fight against the School pair than was seen in the previous match. The first game resulted in favour of the School, at 15-9. Then the Old Wykehamists asserted themselves and in the second game ran out easy winners, 15-5. The third game was well contested for a long time, but was ultimately won by the School, 15-11. The School pair thus secured the rubber and the match.

CORRESPONDENCE.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE CHRONICLE.

MY DEAR SIRs,

I want to know why there is long school on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Your Sincerelly,
William the Conqueror.

[Why indeed? Perhaps for spelling. Edd.]

In addition to the above we have received a flow of correspondence. 'Complainer' has a word to say about lamps and Bursars. His letter has been handed to the Bursar. 'One interested,' in chess, is not up to date. 'A Rinker' had better apply to the Hockey Master for more exercise. From another letter we infer that a distinguished member of V. B. has not yet experienced a sober moment. We are sorry. 'A schoolfellow's' humour requires gold spectacles for full appreciation with or without a sign-post. The monitors can probably enlighten him. 'Humpty-dumpty' in Bengali desires to take a course in the Gym. We sympathise with him and agree that he should be taken, like other eggs, with a little a-salt. 'A Fever patient' would 'chuck' the tuck shop. 'Alway Hopeful' would rather play fives than fill a waste-paper basket. He will probably do both. 'Hermes' attempts to usurp Apollo's functions and has again got hold of the wrong (musical) box. W. S. writes a sensible letter and we hope will appreciate the editorial.
